Members of Both Branches Make No Concealment of Fatigue From Prolonged Session.

Washington, September 14 .- With the tariff bill being completed, and the administration currency bill under way in the House, the coming week in Congress promises marked progress toward the inscribing on the statute books, the legislation pressed by Presi-

The Senate and House conferees, settling points in the tariff bill in disagreement between the two houses, have made much progress. Senator Simmons and Representative Senator simmons and representative Underwood are confident that the com-ing week will see all differences set-tled, and little difficulty is expected in securing the adoption of the conference report.

The House this week will take up the currency bill in detail. Republicans and Progressives set forth at great length last week their objections to the measure, and the Democrats entered their answers. With the gist of argument out of the way, the measure now will be taken up for amendment, and although the approval of the C. C. Members of both houses make no concealment of their fatigue from the prolonged session. Those upon the Finance and Ways and Means Committees have suffered most. Senators on the session will be suffered from Raleigh, and are guests of the session will be suffered by the Miss Lucy Coleman, of Richmond, who has been the guest of Miss Carrie & C. Senators on the Conference Committee met their fellows from the House on the last legislative step of the tariff bill's march, after a grind of debate that has seldom been equalled. of a Sunday session.

"Poe's House of Usher"

The other day while driving in South Richmond I stopped for a moment on the banks of the James River. As my eye wondered over the surrounding country, I was attracted at the sight of an old Virginia Colonial Mansion far up on the banks of the river. Magnificently It stood, silent white pillars, broad verandas, beautiful shady walks; truly a grand relic of the days that are no more. As I suspected, the mansion was rich in ancestral fables; for here Edgar Allen wrote his fateful story, "The Fall of the House of Usher"; here Stuart camped
